August 7, 2023 | 1:00 pm

Every year, National Handloom Day is observed across India on August 7. The day is celebrated to recognise India's rich handloom legacy and the efforts of the weavers engaged in the sector.

To embrace National Handloom Day on August 7, the students of Grade IX and X from NPS marked the National Handloom Day with a vibrant showcase of India's rich handcrafted drawings and paintings. The event featured engaging activities, highlighting the intricate artistry with a single handloom cloth.

So, on this day to preserve the rich heritage of the country and to promote the craftsmen and weavers involved in the craft, we took this opportunity to portrait paintings and drawings with the help of handloom cloth. The beauty of this lies in the fact that every painting has its own style, designs, patterns, and cultures. The students showed different pictures to show the pride of India through the handloom craft.
